IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR YOU TO KEEP

What you need to know about Civil/Family legal aid

Legal aid is the government programme which pays for a lawyer to represent you if you cannot afford to. If you get legal aid, you may have to pay back some or all of it. This is a debt to the Legal Services Agency.

Civil/Family legal aid is available for private disputes and non-criminal problems.

Your application

What happens when you apply?

When you answer the questions and sign the form, you are confirming that the information you have given is accurate and complete.

It is illegal to sign the form when you know something is not true or you have left out something important on purpose.

If you are not sure of the information needed to answer a question, give your best estimate, note on the form that it is an estimate, and provide the detail later.

You have to provide this information so the Agency can make a fair decision about whether you can get legal aid, how much you may need to repay, and how you will make the repayments.

Your application is confidential. The personal information you provide to the Legal Services Agency is only used to process your application. This means the Agency may check the information with others like Work and Income or your employer.

How will you know if you get legal aid?

You will be sent a letter telling you about the Agency's decision. If you do get legal aid, the letter will outline conditions you must meet, including repayments and a charge over property, which are explained below.

The Agency usually makes a decision within five days of receiving a Civil/Family legal aid application. For more complicated cases it can take up to 15 working days.

Your obligations

The information you provide must be accurate and honest. Legal aid can be withdrawn if incorrect information is given to the Legal Services Agency.

You may have to repay some or all of your legal aid. Signing the application form means you agree to this. You must keep up your repayments or legal aid may be withdrawn.

Repayments

How much you have to repay is worked out by the Agency and depends on your income and assets, the cost of your case, and whether you receive any settlement from your case.

You may have to start repaying right away. A repayment plan will be worked out based on the information you have provided the Agency. If you do not keep up with the repayment plan, legal aid may be withdrawn and you may be charged interest on what you owe. Further action can be taken to recover your debt.

If you have a problem paying for your legal aid, tell the Agency's Debt Management Group on 0800 600 090. They can rearrange your repayment plan before any action is taken.

In some circumstances, the Agency can write-off your legal aid debt if you cannot repay it.

You can ask for your legal aid to be stopped, but you may still have to repay some or all of the aid spent so far.

If you need financial advice about making your repayments, contact a Budgeting Service person – see the Yellow Pages.

Charge over property

If you have to repay some or all of your legal aid and the cost is more than $750, the Agency will take a charge over property you own, which may include a house, land, or a vehicle. This can include property owned by your partner. A charge over property means that when the property is sold, your legal aid will be repaid before you receive money from the sale.

Change of situation

You must tell the Agency if your contact details, financial details, employment status, or family circumstances change.

Costs and settlements

If you win your case and you are awarded ownership of property or payment towards the cost of your case, those awards may be used to repay your legal aid.

If costs are awarded against you, the Legal Services Agency can meet the costs but you may have to pay back the Agency. A repayment plan will be set up for you.

Your rights

Reconsideration

If you are not satisfied with a decision made by the Legal Services Agency about your legal aid, you can ask the Agency to reconsider the decision, saying why you would like it reconsidered. The person who helped you apply for legal aid can help you with this.

The reconsideration can take up to 15 working days to complete.

Review

If you are not satisfied with the reconsideration or any other decision of the Agency, you can ask the Legal Aid Review Panel (LARP) to review the decisions. LARP is independent of the Agency. The person who helped you apply for legal aid can help you with this. You can get a form to apply for a review from the Listed Provider section of www.lsa.govt.nz, or by e-mailing LARP: larp@xtra.co.nz, or by writing and asking for the form to Legal Aid Review Panel, PO Box 33-837 Takapuna, North Shore 0740. LARP's telephone number is (09) 489-1300

The review can take about nine weeks to complete.

Money paid to your lawyer

The Agency will use the legal aid to pay your lawyer. You can ask the Agency to examine the cost of your case if you think your lawyer has claimed for more time than they actually spent on the case, or claimed more expenses (disbursements) than they actually used. For a reconsideration or query about how much your lawyer is paid, write to the person who sent you the letter. The address is on the bottom of the letter.

Can you change your lawyer?

If you are not satisfied with your legal aid lawyer, try to talk to them about why you are not satisfied.

If that does not help, contact the Agency office looking after your legal aid. If you have good reasons, and the Agency agrees, you can change your legal aid lawyer. It doesn't happen very often.

If you have a complaint about your lawyer, write to the Agency at the address on the bottom of a letter to you, or see the New Zealand Law Society complaints information at www.lawyers.org.nz/hmcomplaints.asp

Complaints about the Agency

If you are not satisfied with the service from the Agency, try and talk to the person concerned. If that does not help, ask for their supervisor.

Where can you get more information?

You can get more information on legal aid at www.lsa.govt.nz, or from an office of the Agency in the blue Government section of the White Pages, or from your lawyer.

If you need to know more about the law in your case, ask your lawyer or a community law centre.
